

EKASTU - A Complete Range of Products of Professional Quality

Our products comply with National, European and International norms, in whose development EKASTU Safety is actively involved. This results in maximum protection for each work situation and all individual requirements.

The entire product range of EKASTU Safety GmbH today comprises:

Respiratory protection

- Particle-filtering half masks, odour filtering facepieces and comfort masks
- Half and full masks and the accompanying particle, gas and combination filters
- Protective hoods sets complete with mask and filter
- Powered filtering devices
- Filtering escape device
- Protective equipment suitcases in accordance with ADR
- Shotblasting protective devices
- Compressed air line devices
- Unassisted fresh air hose breathing apparatus
- S.C.B.A. and EEBD
- Various respiratory protection sets
- Wide range of accessories

Body protection

- Chemical, acid and gas protection suits
- Protective hoods

Hand protection

- Various types of chemical protective gloves

Eye and face protection

Gas tight and safety goggles, spectacles, safety lenses, face shields, eyewash bottles and accessories

Hearing protection

Ear defenders and noise protection ear plugs

The innovative know-how, which is strictly aligned to the requirements of the market, guarantees that at all times in the future the products use state-of-the-art technology.

International

Production locations in Germany and Italy together with a worldwide network of specialist dealers provide access to international markets. The varying requirements are incorporated into the research and development work, which in the past few years has become generally accepted on the world market with the resulting completely new types of materials, innovative manufacturing techniques and problem-solving design.

Experience & service are what count

We take customer service extremely seriously: In EKASTU Safety you have a partner who over and above the product itself offers a comprehensive service: training seminars, instructions in the most important languages and lists of hazardous substances are equally a part of this as our comprehensive advisory service for solving individual industrial safety problems. The range of items we offer also includes information portfolios, posters, flyers and folders with detailed product descriptions. If desired, our experienced office and field service personnel will carry out intensive product training seminars in order to provide your employees and customers in the specialist trade with an appropriate understanding of the relevant subject matter.

In the new Europe with its open borders long distances are bridged with the help of new telecommunication technologies and data transmission pathways shortened by the use of computers.

Our strengths include the high quality of our products, our short delivery times, the expertise of our employees, the specialist advisory service we provide, our application-orientated product development and our all-round service. Together with our 70 years of experience of industrial safety these form a basis on which our customers will also be able to rely in the future.

EKASTU Safety GmbH

D-70197 Stuttgart, Germany, Gutenbergstraße. 75

Phone +49/711/263590-0, Fax +49/711/263590-30

Internet: www.ekastu.de

eMail: info@ekastu.de